Project: GTAVI Waiting Room

Description:

The GTAVI Waiting Room is a website that prioritizes the upcoming release of the game Grand Theft Auto 6. The surmise of this is to bring former players of GTA to check in on the predicted remaining days of the new game launch. The website will include a subscription service so that players (users) may get information as quickly and thoroughly as possible. The website will try to include the player's best interest such as any potential drops that GTAVI may consist of from potential streaming platforms, release date times (time zones), and when the pre-order release date is available. This website will store the player's email and/or phone number (depending on how they sign up). There will also be an option to donate directly for support and to keep up with information on the latest news on GTAVI and much more.

Page Names include:
- Welcome Page
- Countdown Page
- News Page
- References
- About us
- Contact Us

Data Description:

The website will store login information such as email and/or phone number, card information, and first and last name (optional). The user will be emailed a pass key and through that pass key will be their password. This allows them to sign in on different devices such as mobile, desktop, or tablet. There will be a minimum limit for donations, such as USD 10.00 (money converted for otherworldly users). There will also be a Counting tracker to keep up to date on the release of the game. A subscriber list will be used to provide content to the people.
